

Internship Positions Available

Granada Farms is currently seeking individuals interested in a paid internship as a breeding technician for the 2027 breeding season. The internship is from mid-January through mid-June. Applications will be accepted through October 31st.

Granada Farms is an equine breeding facility involved in the quarter horse racing industry. We stand 10 stallions and typically breed around 600 mares per season. Throughout this internship you will gain hands-on experience in the following areas: stallion collection, insemination of mares, post breeding treatments, routine veterinary work for mares and foals, and various other duties that arise. You will also be exposed to the application of embryo transfer. Opportunities for research exist if a paper is required by your school for fulfilling the terms of your internship.

Applicants should have completed a reproduction class, a desire to learn, a positive attitude, willing to work six days a week from 8-5, sometimes longer, and able to lift 50lbs. It is a physically demanding internship with long hours, lots of miles and hard work. This will give you a vast amount of hands-on experience and on-the-job training.

There may be an opportunity for living arrangements, but you must have your own transportation. As the application, please submit a resume and cover letter telling us a little bit about yourself and why you are interested in the reproduction internship.

Applications may be e-mailed to Angie@granadafarms.com
